TV PROGRAMMES

A. "The World Around Us"
A fascinating study of the ancient Egyptian pyramids and the area around the River Nile in Egypt. The scenery is beautiful and the filming of this documentary is a work of art as it is so thoughtfully done. As well as the obvious camels, there are also many interesting images of other desert animals and plant life.

B. "Speak Up"
Well-known personalities discuss the main stories of the day. What is going on in the government and who is attacking who in the political parties. Always a lively programme as events, both at home and abroad, are debated with great enthusiasm.

C. "Summer Holidays"
A practical and honest account of some of the summer holidays that are on offer this year. Tonight's programme features a weekend in Disneyland in Paris, cheap sailing holidays in the Mediterranean and a shopping and sightseeing trip to New York.

D. "Cooking for special occasions"
The fun cookery programme that offers lots of exciting ideas from children's birthday parties to that frightening dinner for the boss and his wife. Easy to follow step by step instructions and many useful tips on how to make your dinner party a little bit special.

G. "Death in Paris"
A fast, violent film about the Mafia in Paris. Although there are some good actors in this film, the story isn't very exciting or interesting and it is often hard to understand what is going on. There are some beautiful Parisian scenes however and a few funny moments between the scenes of violence.

H. "Born to Run"
An interesting story of a young man with learning difficulties who overcame the problems in his life, through his great talent for athletics. This is a true story of how one person made the most of their life and also helped many other people with similar problems. The happy ending will appeal to all those romantics out there.

"Holidays in Norwich"

Norwich is the capital of East Anglia, an area on the east coast of England which is famous for its natural beauty and impressive architecture. Norwich is a wonderful city to explore and is popular with tourists all year round.

Norwich is not a city of luxurious hotels but it has a good selection of reasonably priced places to stay in, both in the city centre and further out. The Beeches Hotel, for example, next to the cathedral, has a beautiful Victorian garden and has just over twenty double rooms. Comfortable accommodation costs £65 for two nights' bed and breakfast per person; weekend breaks from October to May cost £59 per person. Norwich is famous for its magnificent cathedral. The cathedral has a summer programme of music and events which is open to the general public. One event, "Fire from Heaven", is a drama and musical performance with fireworks, a laser light show and a carnival with local people dressed in colourful costumes.

Norwich is also home to the Sainsbury Centre For The Visual Arts, a world-class collection of international art in a building at the University of East Anglia designed by Sir Norman Foster. This is well worth a visit and there is a lovely canteen with an excellent selection of hot and cold snacks. It also specializes in vegetarian food.

The city has a new professional theatre, the Playhouse, on the River Wensum. The city's annual international arts festival is from 10-20 October. Not on the classic tourist agenda but well worth a visit are the factory shoe shops in Norwich (for men, women and children). Here you can buy shoes for less than half the shop price.

Finally, if you fancy a complete break from the stresses of everyday life, you could hire a boat and spend a few days cruising along the rivers of the famous Norfolk Broads. The Broads have changed for the better in recent years. In our environmentally friendly age, the emphasis has moved towards the quiet enjoyment of nature and wildlife. You can hire a boat, big or small, for an hour or two or even up to a week or two. This makes a perfect day out or holiday for people of all ages.

We have lots of meetings in the office which involve the marketing department, holiday reps and people that we bring in from outside such as entertainment organisers. The aim is to develop an exciting idea into a realistic and workable project.

Once a month I spend a few days overseas checking possible resorts, meeting with reps to develop their roles and working out how events should be sold to the customer. I work with resort supervisors, use their local knowledge of bars and clubs for venues, talk through new ideas and find out how existing ones are working. I also meet holidaymakers.

PART 3 Questions 11-20

Look at the sentences below about a safety leaflet. Read the text to decide if each sentence is correct or incorrect. If it is correct, mark A. If it is not correct, mark B.

11. If there is a fire, leave the house and then shout. 11 ☐
12. If the smoke alarm sounds, sit down and make an escape plan. 12 ☐
13. You should decide what you would do before a fire starts. 13 ☐
14. Smoke rises in a room. 14 ☐
15. Jump out of a window arms first. 15 ☐
16. You should have an alarm in each room. 16 ☐
17. Don't smoke at night in your house. 17 ☐
18. Make sure that everyone is aware of the escape route. 18 ☐
19. If you are trapped, stay by a window. 19 ☐
20. Never return to a burning building. 20 ☐

What to do if there's a fire

Raise the alarm
- If your smoke alarm goes off while you are asleep, don't investigate to see if there is a fire. Shout to wake everyone up, get everyone together, follow your plan and get out.
- Check doors with the back of your hand - if they are warm, do not open them - the fire is on the other side.
- If there is a lot of smoke, crawl along with your nose near the floor where the air will be cleaner.

Escaping from a window
- If you are on the ground floor or first floor you may be able to escape from a window. If you have to break the window, cover the jagged glass with towels or thick bedding.
- Throw some more bedding out of the window to break your fall. Don't jump out of the window - lower yourself down to arm's length and drop to the ground.
- If you have any children or elderly or disabled people with you, plan the order you will escape in so that you can help them down.

Don't go back inside your home
- Call the Fire Brigade from a mobile phone, a neighbour's house or a phone box. Give the address of the fire.
- Don't stop or go back for anything.

Practise your fire action plan
- Knowing what to do and acting quickly will save lives. Regularly take a few minutes to "walk" the escape route with everyone in your household and check that everyone can unlock and open windows and doors easily.
- Review your plan regularly, especially if you make any changes in your home.
- Protect yourself and reduce the risk of fire by:
- Fitting smoke alarms on each floor level and testing them each week.
- Keeping doors closed at night.
- Switching off as many electrical appliances as possible at night.
- Putting out cigarettes and candles safely and keeping matches and lighters away from children.

What to do if your escape route is blocked
- Get everyone into one room and close the door. Smoke and fumes can kill people quickly, so put bedding or towels along the bottom of the door to seal the gap.
- Open the window and stay near it for fresh air and to let the firefighters see you.
- Phone the Fire Brigade or shout for help so that someone else can phone for you.

In summary, to save your life in a fire:
- if your smoke alarm goes off in the night don't investigate
- wake others and get out, following your plan;
- don't open any doors that feel warm;
- don't stop or go back for anything - phone the Fire Brigade; and
- if you can't get out, stay together in one room, close the door and wait to be rescued.

PART 4 Questions 21-25

Read the text and questions below. For each question, choose the correct letter A, B, C or D.

There can be something brutal about emerging pale and tired from an overnight flight into the bright African sun. However, when you are met by a smiling, tanned pilot who whisks you through Customs and on to the runway to a waiting plane, life suddenly seems a whole lot better. When you are on a short break every hour matters so we were short-cutting the queues at Customs and heading off to the bush in time for breakfast.

The flight north from Nairobi lasts less than an hour but is a fascinating safari in itself. It took us out of the city and low over the patchwork fields and dark red roads of the Kenyan agricultural heartland until we reached Mount Kenya. Here suddenly the view changes. The pilot swooped breathtakingly low over the trees pointing out the elephants, giraffes, gazelles and even rhinos as they scattered beneath us. The tiny shadow of the plane followed us across the dry rugged land. We circled high above our final destination, Loisaba Lodge, before landing neatly on the dirt airstrip.

Loisaba Wilderness is a 150sq km, privately managed wildlife conservancy. It is larger than many of Kenya's game parks and a haven for more than 250 species of bird and 50 species of mammal - elephants, buffaloes. The wildlife here, unlike in the game parks, is still wild, and so, far more exciting to see than bored lions sprawled in front of a crowd of tourists in jeeps.

The lodge perches high on a ridge. From each of the seven rooms guests can walk out on to their private terrace to marvel at the wildly dramatic view - 61,000 acres of acacia savannah and rocky outcrops lie beneath you.

A thousand feet straight down the escarpment is a watering hole constantly drawing in animals for a drink; shimmering in the far distance swathed in cloud sit the darkly forested foothills of Mount Kenya. It's a view to knock you out, to savour, to return to again and again.

21. Why has the writer written this piece?
- A. to warn people about the dangers of a trip to Africa
- B. to inform people about a short break in Africa
- C. to discuss endangered species in Africa
- D. to make people more aware of animal conservation

22. Why was the writer so pleased to be met by the pilot?
- A. Because he wanted to make the most of his time on holiday.
- B. Because he thought the pilot might not meet him.
- C. Because he expected the pilot to be unfriendly.
- D. Because the pilot showed him how to push up in the queue without being noticed.

23. What does the writer say about the flight from Nairobi?
- A. It is far too short.
- B. The pilot flew in a dangerous way.
- C. They were followed by a smaller plane.
- D. It offers many impressive views.

24. What does the writer suggest about Loisaba?
- A. It is still a safe and natural environment for animals.
- B. Tourists are spoiling it.
- C. Many of the animals are being hunted.
- D. The wild animals often attack people.

25. Which of the following would be the best title for this text?
- A. "Wild animals in danger"
- B. "A taste of natural Africa"
- C. "A day trip to the zoo"
- D. "Tourists are taking over beautiful Africa"

As you can see when you take a look around, we're extremely proud of our heritage. Our pubs are traditional, cosy and, we think, "good old-fashioned" places to enjoy a well-kept pint of beer, or a glass of something refreshing, or even a tasty bite to eat. Many of our pubs have a history that can be traced back over centuries. Every pub will have a story or two to tell! Our bar staff may be able to tell you more. So, whether you're popping in for a quick drink, a meal, or if you're here for a good night out, enjoy yourself.

The service.
Now there's a word that doesn't mean quite what it used to. But at Richardson's we try as hard as we can to deliver individual, high standards of service that you'll want to come back to and experience again. At the heart of our pubs is friendly, helpful staff that enjoy looking after you. If there's anything we can do to make your visit more enjoyable, please don't hesitate to ask. We hope we'll be seeing you regularly.

The relaxed atmosphere.
What do you look for in a pub? A comfortable corner to enjoy a meal and a chat? A place at the bar to drink and get involved in a lively conversation? Or perhaps a seat in a window to read or quietly watch the world go by as you sip slowly at your glass. Whichever - and whenever you pop in - we're certain you'll find yourself at home in a Richardson's pub.
Relaxing, welcoming, it's a long way from the hustle and bustle of the typical bar. You may even find your watch ticks a little slower. So, enjoy the atmosphere, it's free.

Our selection of speciality beers and wines.
Our pubs may have the feel of a traditional local, but our selection of beers and wines is truly international. From real ales hand-pulled from the cask, to wines drawn from some of the most notable vineyards around the world.
Make no mistake, our cellar men and our vintners are proud of both the quality and variety of the beers and wines they bring you and the way they are expertly kept. As well as our regular selection, keep your eyes open for guest ales and special wines that they may find for you.

The delicious new buffet menu.

Tom Cruise

Over the years, Tom Cruise has become one of the most popular and successful actors in the world. Tom is now an international star, who gets paid millions of dollars for every film he makes. "I'm lucky," says Tom. "I'm doing what I love, and I'm having a great time. Lots of people would love to do this job, but they didn't get the lucky breaks or chances that I did." For many of us however, Tom was more than just lucky or good-looking, as acting ability and great determination were needed for him to become one of Hollywood's biggest names.

Is Tom happy with his success so far? He has a different outlook on his career than you might expect, "I've always looked to the future," says Tom. "I feel I'm always developing as an actor. I'm looking for new things all the time. I want to challenge myself to be better and always try new things. I know I've made a lot of progress in my career, but I still have ambitions for the future."

After interviewing him, I understood that the real Tom Cruise is a man with a very interesting and agreeable personality. He has a mind of his own and he's not like the characters in his movies, even though they may reflect Tom's personal style in the way he plays them.

The amazing success of Tom's career has been due to his talent as an actor and his personal strength and single-mindedness. Tom knew what he wanted to do with his life and gave his best to succeed.

Films of the week

A. East-side Story
This sequel to the original musical classic is definitely worth seeing. This time the romantic interest takes place between a middle-aged Italian man and a Russian woman in New York, with a sentimental message concerning love and age. Superb dance routines and vocal performances make this exceptional film as entertaining as a Broadway hit.

B. Chuckling all Day
The young comedian Steve Trumann gives us another hilarious performance as the office worker who suffers one humorous accident after another in the busy city he lives in. We get the impression that this could happen to anyone of us which perhaps helps us laugh in an understanding way.

C. Phantom Screams
In this tense psychological production, James Tyler has the same terrible dream, that spirits who want the house empty, murder him and his family. However, when the first events of his dream start to become reality, a series of enigmatic clues provide the only hope he has to save himself and the family.

D. The Soldier Returns
Despite this attempt at serious acting, action star Arnold Stallon reproduces a typically mindless performance as he plays an ex-commando who must fight a drug-lord. Arnold fights through the armies of opponents with guns, knives and bombs, as he bloodily beats each opponent.

E. Destiny of the Heart
Two young students leave high school for college, despite the fact that they were in love with each other, neither managed to tell the other. The film is set four years later when the two meet by chance at a train station. Will they separate again or live happily ever after?
A predictable but sweet romantic movie for teenagers.

F. Murder at the Office
This is a classic murder mystery from director Angela Christen. At the beginning of the film we see through the murderer's eyes, as he attacks and brutally kills his victim, a rich businessman. Next, we see a room with five suspects, all his employees, who were in the building at the time. Can you guess who did it?

G. The 23rd Century Man
The biggest science fiction film of the year does not disappoint as Michael Saunt plays an astronaut in the 23rd century who is travelling the stars with only robots and computers as company. Despite the great potential of scientific advancements the film contains warnings about the danger of losing our human nature to computers.

H. Henry V
Anyone looking for a piece of cultural entertainment should consider this classic Shakespeare play, complete with Hollywood special effects and star names. The hard reality of war in the middle ages is certainly brought to life by the tough actors as they march through France.

Axel Thorn

I have had many years as a successful rock star, but will always remember my roots and how I formed my first band. At sixteen I was still growing up in a bad part of town. I didn't have any way to express myself; I was frustrated at the terrible state of the neighbourhood and the unfairness that existed. Just a few miles away rich people lived who had everything, while we had nothing, and could only hope for the worst of jobs.

One night, while I was at a friend's house we found a pair of electric guitars, and started playing. We pretty much taught ourselves the music, and when a couple of other guys joined, who really knew how to play, I knew we had something. With my lyrics, I could express far more emotion and communicate with other people.

Soon after that we set up our own band. The songs we write are still very important to us. They're about voicing how we feel about the problems and issues around us, crime, unemployment, exploitation, and the inequality present in the country.

Of course, we are also expressing our own dreams and desires. It can be sensational to be on stage and have twenty thousand people sing the songs that you write, songs that are about people like them, and in the end, they are for people like them.

Our music has been very popular and is worth listening to, as it is the ordinary people who have made it such a success. We sing what we feel, so we're sure that if people listen to the music, they'll understand the message too.

21. What is Axel Thorn's main purpose in writing this text?
    - A. to explain the music industry to poor people

    - C. He grew up in a poor area of town.
    - D. His family had the worst jobs in the area.

23. How does Axel describe his lyrics?
    - A. They express his feelings on serious issues.
    - B. They are written by a professional songwriter.
    - C. They are about the problem of international conflict.
    - D. They are the most important thing in his life.

24. What does Axel say about performing on stage?
    - A. It was his great dream, as he always loved attention.
    - B. They only perform in front of crowds of twenty thousand or more.
    - C. Most people at the concerts do not understand his music.
    - D. He feels amazing when the crowd sing his own songs.

25. How might Axel describe being in a band?
    - A. Being in a band is the greatest thing I could ever hope to do. The best part is the money and being famous.
    - B. We are now a hugely successful band all over the world. I want to make more pop and commercial music to make more money.
    - C. Music was always important to me as a way to comment on social problems and communicate with the people.
    - D. The enjoyment I got when I was younger is no longer there. I don't feel so connected with the people as I used to.

BOOK REVIEWS

A. Journeys with my family
This book of short stories isn't actually about travelling at all, even though the title may suggest otherwise. It is a collection of studies of how people interact with their families. Often funny and also often heartbreaking, these short stories show both the best and the worst of people.

B. The enchanted April
An ad for a castle to rent on the Italian Riviera brings together four very different women. Their beautiful environment helps them make discoveries about themselves, life and love. A novel that you won't want to put down once you start reading it.

C. Living with the bushmen
This is the true account of Richard Berk's search for the African bushmen and their amazing acceptance of his presence in their timeless world. Berk managed, against all odds, to live with the bushmen for six months, learning their language and exploring their ancient culture. A remarkable story about a remarkable anthropologist.

D. Trouble in the suburbs
A light-hearted crime story about a private investigator on his final case before retirement. However, the investigation takes an unexpected turn of events and the hero is put in some dangerous situations. A good read for those who don't want to be challenged too much.

E. The King of all KINGS
This story of an imaginary Egyptian pharaoh has some interesting archaeological facts and some beautifully drawn maps and diagrams. But unless you have a passion for Ancient Egypt, it probably wouldn't be a gripping read.

F. The History of advertising
A surprisingly interesting look at how the media has affected and reflected our lifestyles. This non-fiction book examines how advertising has developed over the years and how we now accept images that would have been censored in the past.

G. The Connection
Not an easy-reading book. This complex novel takes the reader into a world of intrigue and overlapping events that all have an effect on each other. There is, however, one common factor that links everything together. Can you work out what that common factor is before all is revealed in the final chapter?

H. The Lost Leopard
The story of a snow leopard, orphaned by hunters, which trekked across miles of frozen land searching for a home. This book is sponsored by the Leopard Sanctuary and its message about the corrupt fur trade is clear and powerful.

We regret children are not accepted on this tour.

PART 4 Questions 21-25

Read the text and questions below. For each question, choose the correct letter A, B, C or D.

ALICE BRADLEY

I guess you could say that acting is in my blood as my mother and father are both actors, my grandfather was a theatre musician and my grandmother was a singer and dancer. I suppose it seemed normal for me to do a little turn for family and friends. I certainly wasn't a shy wallflower.

I went to drama school in London on Saturdays from the age of six. We were taught how to sing and dance as well as act so I was a good all-rounder by my teens.

Once I'd left school I went to drama school in London full-time to do a degree. I must admit that I had a slight lapse in commitment at that time, for a period of about six months. I joined up with the party crowd and danced the nights away and slept late most mornings. It was only when my personal tutor told me that I was on my final warning that I realised I might be expelled.

After the shock of that realisation I got my act together very quickly and ended up graduating with a first.

The Royal Shakespeare Company gave me my first real role and I acted alongside some great names in the world of the stage. Now of course I'm better known for my Hollywood roles and people will probably be amazed to hear that I first walked the boards as a Shakespearean actor.

WHAT'S ON TV TONIGHT?

A. Drumline (Charles Stone III, 2002) 6pm, Sky Movies 1
A tough kid from the wrong side of the tracks joins a snooty school where his rhythmic prowess is put to the test in the military marching band. But he's survived so long on street-smarts alone, will he be able to reveal a soft side under that bullish exterior and will this loner learn to work in a team? Well it's no worse than any other teen movie. The drumming scenes are impressive climaxing with a tense drum-off with the rival team. As a drumming movie it's hard to beat!

B. Journey of Life 9pm, BBC1
Steve Leonard leads this new five-part exploration of how we got here, from single-celled organisms to blue whales. As you'd expect there's lots of great footage: today - flying fish, sharks and coral. As well as a brutally simple demonstration of the survival of the fittest theory with some baby turtles on a beach, there's a graphic demonstration of one of nature's more unpleasant defence mechanisms: a sea cucumber that literally throws its guts up when attacked.

C. Horizon 9pm BBC2
Documentary examining the rise and fall of the Moche people who vanished without trace, despite ruling the northern coast of Peru, constructing imposing pyramids and founding an empire which lasted for hundreds of years. The programme reveals artefacts and other evidence recently uncovered by scientists and archaeologists, which have finally allowed them to piece together what really happened to one of the greatest civilizations of the ancient world.

D. Murder One 9pm, FX
A welcome repeat for this cult Steven Bochco crime show from 1996. A bit like a slower 24, it follows a single murder case, with each episode showing a single day. Daniel Benzali holds everything together as Teddy Hoffman, LA's top criminal attorney, hired to defend shady millionaire Tichard Cross (Stanley Tucci) when his mistress's 15-year-old sister is found dead. Packed with lots of actors you'll recognise - this is meaty stuff, with Hollywood players, political wrangling and dodgy deals.

E. Masterchef Goes Large 6.30pm BBC2
A revamp for the old format, with contestants having to create a new recipe from scratch in 30 minutes, before the three most promising are sent to the kitchens of London's La Porchetta, where they must prepare simple Italian meals as quickly as possible. Their final challenge is to make a two-course meal for judges John Torode and Gregg Wallace who will decide which of them will go through to Friday's quarter-final.

F. A Dream Home Abroad 8pm Five
George Clarke follows the efforts of a wealthy north London couple to transform a 200-year-old farmhouse in Piedmont, Italy, into the house of their dreams. Despite having no money worries and providing a realistic deadline for the completion of the project, work commitments mean they cannot be away from the UK for long stretches, requiring them to trust the builders to complete the job largely unsupervised.

G. Faith 9pm BBC1
William Ivory's story of love, deceit and betrayal is set against the backdrop of the Miners' Strike of 1984-1985. The year-long conflict forces two sisters and their husbands to reassess their relationships with each other as they struggle to make ends meet, setting the scene for a showdown that is both political and personal and will change their lives for ever.

H. Dispatches 9pm Channel 4
An investigation into the working lives of traffic wardens, with hidden cameras revealing the extent of the abuse they are faced with on a day-to-day basis from angry and often violent motorists. The programme also exposes the strategies and tactics that wardens employ to ensure suitable punishments are handed out to those who have violated parking laws.

"Exploring Berlin"

With its fascinating history and its currently in-vogue urban scene, Berlin really is a city of contrasts, and after all those scenic strolls it's time for some art. Berlin's "museum for the present" Hamburger Bahnhof has a variety of work from contemporary European artists as well as a large collection of works by Andy Warhol. Housed in an impressive 18th-century railway terminal, the museum is a sleek, clever refit of a classical building. If you think it's impressive by day, be sure to stroll by at night when it's bathed in a striking blue light.

For fantastic shopping, KaDeWe is Europe's largest shopping centre. It's also suitably glam with a Reichstag style glass dome and an entire top floor devoted to gourmet foods, including over 100 varieties of wurst-sausage heaven! From Dior to Diesel, KaDeWe has a good mix of the affordable and the sky high.

But if shopping centres leave you cold, the Mitte area might be more your scene. The new face of the former east, this area hosts the highest density of clubs in the city and is packed with art galleries, cool shops and bars. The Kreukberg neighbourhood is especially well-known for alternative culture blending a hip, too-cool-for-school scene with a cosmopolitan vibe. Head to the Turkish coffee shops for some serious people watching and don't forget to take a classic European novel with you - there are plenty of great second-hand bookstores around if you left yours at home. Whoever wants to seriously go out in Berlin, also does so in Mitte in relaxed and loungy clubs like "Delicious Donutes" or "Mr Wonka's".

JEFF STRINGER - JUDGE

I've always enjoyed being with other people and I suppose I've always had a strong opinion about what is wrong and what is right, even from when I was a young child. That used to irritate my brothers and sisters because I would grass on them if they did something wrong. They had secrets that they wouldn't share with me and I probably missed out on a lot, because of that. Not that I blame them.

I actually studied history at university and then, in my final year, I had a work placement in a lawyer's office. I was fascinated from day one and as soon as I graduated I applied to do a degree in law.

I get a real buzz from fighting for justice, no matter what kind of case it is. It can be hard not to get emotionally involved at times. You just have to follow your head and not your heart in such situations.

I make it a personal rule not to take my work home with me. Once I leave the court, I switch off and concentrate on my family. They will always be my number one priority.

24. What does the writer do at the end of the working day?
   - A. Finish off any work that he has at home.
   - B. Leave all his work problems at the court.

   - D. Worry overly about his family.

25. Which of the following is the best description of how the writer feels about life?

19. It is possible that the Italian population could disappear one day. 19 ☐
20. Family bonds are still very strong in Italy. 20 ☐

"ROME"

Getting around in Rome

Although Rome is a vast city, most of the major sights are within walking distance of the historic centre, defined by the twisting Tiber river to the west, the sprawling Villa Borghese park to the north, the Roman Forum to the south and the central train station, Stazione Termini, to the east. Vatican city and the charming Trastevere are on the west bank of the Tiber.

Environment

Traffic and air pollution are Rome's greatest environmental hazards. Efforts to reduce traffic have increased dramatically in recent years: special permits are needed to drive in the city centre, strict regulations govern levels of gas emissions from motor vehicles and scooters, public transport is slowly being upgraded and a network of electric buses has been introduced. Despite these measures, many city monuments - and the health and enjoyment of visitors - is still at risk from pollution.

Economy

Tourism generates 12% of Rome's economy with the rest largely coming from banking, fashion, insurance, printing and publishing. The city council itself is one of the biggest employers while many Romans working in the private sector are self-employed, an aim of the majority of the population.

The mainstays of the city's budget are the annual 'garbage tax' (a form of municipal tax) paid by residents and its share of taxes paid to the national government. Rome receives a fairly low share of the tax pool compared to other cities; just 150 euro per person while Naples and Milan receive 524 euro and 232 euro respectively.

Rail and telecommunications services were recently boosted with some 1 billion euro being spent on both upgrading the rail network and laying fibre-optic cables throughout the city.

Society and culture

Rome's ageing population reflects the demographic trend throughout Italy, the only country in the world where the old outnumber the young, thanks to a combination of low birth rates and longevity. The population is increasing, however, thanks to the influx of immigrants. Official records suggest almost a quarter of a million (8% of the city's population) are foreigners, although the number is likely to be considerably higher if you take illegal immigrants into account.

Some 85% of Italians are Catholic with the remainder made up of Muslims, Protestants and Jews. Despite the falling birth rates - which demographers warn could lead to the extinction of the Italian race in 200 years if not reversed! - the family is of utmost importance in Roman and Italian society. The majority stay in the family home until well into their 30s, a situation made worse by high unemployment and house prices. Even then, very few men (and not many more women) move more than a few kilometres from Mum's cooking and washing machine!

PART 4 Questions 21-25

Read the text and questions below. For each question, mark the letter next to the correct answer A, B, C or D.

Getting fit and slim

You started the year in fine form, made a promise to yourself to get fit and slim, joined a gym and started a diet. But what happened to those gym visits and the lettuce diet? At least half of us who try to get fit and thinner give up after less than a month. Many people blame their failure on lack of time. Lack of willpower was highly important too.

Much of this is down to the way we set unrealistic fitness goals - a flat stomach in eight weeks and a celebrity diet plan - instead of trying the boringly practical long-term fix of exercising a bit more and eating a bit less. Most fitness clubs get an influx of new members from January to March, but their use of the gym tends to decline after that. So how do you beat the temptation to give up? First, don't expect to fail as soon as you start - be positive, even if you've failed before. Many people are fooled into believing that they need to follow an expensive eating plan. This is simply not true. The answer is to soul-search for the thing that really interests and motivates you. It's fine to have small motivations, but you should write them down and put them together to make a list of things to keep you going.

You also need to change the way you think about things. Women feel particularly guilty about doing the three-hour-a-week exercise routine, thinking it 'selfish time' that takes them away from responsibilities to family and friends. It is better to regard this as vital 'self-care' time. People also think three hours is a lot of time out of their week, but we spend around 98 hours a week awake - and the other 95 we are just sitting around.

   - A. you need to find a strong and lasting reason.
   - B. you need a soul-mate to exercise with.

The History of Computer Games

brought to you by George's Games

Early Ideas
The origin of video games lies in early missile defence systems in the late 1940s. These were later adapted into simple games during the 1950s. Eventually video games diverged into different types: mainframe, arcade, console, personal computer and later handheld games.

Mainframe Games
Game development blossomed in the early 70s, using huge University mainframe computers. There is little record of these games, as they were not marketed, or available to the public. The students creating them often did so illicitly by making questionable use of very expensive computing resources, and so kept their work secret.

Rise of the Video Arcade
The arcade game industry entered its Golden Age in 1978 with the release of Space Invaders by Taito, a success that inspired dozens of manufacturers to enter the market. Colour arcade games became more popular in 1979 and 1980 with the arrival of titles such as Pac-Man. The Golden Age of video arcade games reached its zenith in the 1980s.

The Game Console and Home Computer
With improvements to consoles in the 90s, home video games began to approach the level of graphics seen in arcade games. An increasing number of players would wait for popular arcade games to be adapted for consoles rather than going out. Home computers also became cheaper, more widespread and gained gaming abilities.

Today and Tomorrow
Today's tecnology is changing rapidly. The newest developments include hand-held and mobile phone gaming, huge online games with many players, alternate reality games such as Second Life, and games, such as Farmville that are linked to social networks.

For more information, the latest games products, and to play a selection of authentic vintage arcade games, visit us at George's Games conveniently located at the Central Entertainment Complex on Derby Road.

PART 4 Questions 21-25

Read the text and questions below. For each question, mark the letter next to the correct answer A, B, C or D.

The Furby Fad

The Furby, a five inch tall doll with bulging eyes and a round mouth, which had a great resemblance to the character from the movie "Gremlins", was a cute enough toy. But how did it become so very popular for a short time, causing a Furby fad?

Part of the interest in the toy was because it displayed lifelike qualities. It was interactive. In particular, it needed nurturing. The toy responded to light, sound and touch and had the ability to learn to speak English. Conversely, it could teach its owner how to speak Furbish, which was a mixture of several language sounds.

However most of its popularity was due to media exposure. The Furby was first demonstrated at the 1998 Toy Fair in New York City. The toy was subsequently mentioned in Time magazine and USA Today and on a number of early morning television shows. The Toy Fair took place in February, but the manufacturer, Tiger Electronics, had planned to release it in October. But because of the media exposure, toy stores began placing large orders for the toy as more and more parents began inquiring about its availability. By the time the toy was released in October, Tiger had already sold out the initial lot of 1.3 million units.

The Furby fad seemed to have been fuelled by the inability of parents to find the toy. When it was not available, everyone needed one. Yet, as soon as they became plentiful, interest in them evaporated.

24. Why does the writer think the Furby became a fad?
- A. It was a new idea.
- B. It was not widely available on release.
- C. It was well advertised.
- D. It was affordable.

25. Which best describes the Furby toy?
- A. A cute, innovative toy that was extremely popular for a short time.
- B. A strange-looking toy that was a huge hit with children despite the doubts of parents.
- C. A toy that achieved unexplained and surprising popularity.

13. Becoming very stressed can be bad for you. 13 ☐
14. Everyone reacts to stress in the same way. 14 ☐

18. It doesn't matter when you study. 18 ☐
19. If you breathe more quickly, you will calm down. 19 ☐
20. A healthy diet will not help you to handle stress. 20 ☐

Can I avoid getting stressed before an exam?

Taking exams is bound to be stressful because of what is at stake. You may be feeling a weight of expectation from your family, school, university or workplace to succeed. You may be afraid you are not good enough, or have not worked hard enough. You may be scared of letting yourself down, or that you'll miss out on a job, university place or career move.

If your stress levels rise too high for too long, it can be harmful both to you and to your chances. Everybody's stress 'threshold' is different. A situation that is too much for one person to tolerate may be stimulating to another. Controlled at the right level, however, stress can work to your advantage, because it can help you to produce your peak performance.

Here's what you can do to keep exam stress at a healthy level:

Be organised
If you know exactly what you are facing, this will go a long way towards putting your mind at ease. Get hold of the right information from the start. Make sure you know how you will be examined and what you'll be examined on. Catch up with anything you have missed right away.

Make a Timetable
Take time to plan a revision timetable that is realistic and still flexible, and linked to your exam timetable, so you revise subjects in the right order. In planning it, give yourself clear priorities and try to balance your revision with other demands on your time - meals, sleep, chores or other commitments, as well as time for relaxing. Identify your best time of day for studying.

Learn to Relax
Stress can make you start breathing with quick, shallow breaths and make your heart beat faster than usual. If this happens, try to be aware of how quickly you are breathing. If it's one breath every couple of seconds, take a deep breath and start counting steadily. Breathe out slowly and try to get the last of the breath out in about five seconds. Carry on doing this until you are doing it naturally.

Keep Healthy
Exercise is an excellent way of coping with stress. Try to get 20 minutes per day. Sleep is critical - if you lack sleep, even small things will be stressful. Of course, you must eat right too! Don't stop taking care of yourself.

PART 4 Questions 21-25

Read the text and questions below. For each question, mark the letter next to the correct answer A, B, C or D.

The Origin of Jeans

In 1853, the California gold rush was in full swing and everyday items were in short supply. Levi Strauss, a 24-year-old German immigrant, left New York for San Francisco with a small supply of dry goods with the intention of opening a branch of his brother's New York dry goods business. Shortly after his arrival, a prospector wanted to know what Mr. Strauss was selling. When Strauss told him he had rough canvas cloth to use for tents and wagon covers, the prospector said, "You should have brought trousers!", because he couldn't find a pair of trousers strong enough to last.

Levi Strauss had the canvas made into work trousers. Miners liked the trousers, but complained that the fabric was not very comfortable and tended to chafe. Levi Strauss substituted the canvas with a twilled cotton cloth from France called "serge de Nimes." The fabric later became known as denim and the trousers were nicknamed blue jeans. Then Levi Strauss and Nevada tailor David Jacobs co-patented the process of putting small metal rivets in places such as the sides of the pockets that needed extra strength. On May 20, 1873, they received U.S.Patent No.139,121. This date is now considered the official birthday of "blue jeans."

But why were they called blue jeans? Denim is unique in its singular connection with one colour. It is made from thread that is traditionally dyed with the blue pigment obtained from indigo dye. Indigo was linked with practical fabrics and work clothing. The durability of indigo as a colour and its darkness of tone made it a good choice when frequent washing was not possible.

B. the indigo colour
C. David Jacobs, the tailor, thought of it
